ravensbrück was the only major nazi concentration camp for women located about fifty miles north of berlin the camp was the site of murder by slave labor torture starvation shooting lethal injection medical experimentation and gassing while this camp was designed to hold 5 000 women the actual figure was six times this number between 1939 and 1945 132 000 women from twenty three countries were imprisoned in ravensbrück including political prisoners jehovah s witnesses asocials including gypsies prostitutes and lesbians criminals and jewish women who made up about 20 percent of the population only 15 000 survived drawing upon more than sixty narratives and interviews of survivors in the united states israel and europe as well as unpublished testimonies documents and photographs from private archives rochelle saidel provides a vivid collective and individual portrait of ravenstrück s jewish women prisoners she worked for over twenty years to track down these women whose poignant testimonies deserve to be shared with a wider audience and future generations their memoirs provide new perspectives and information about satellite camps there were about 70 slave labor sub camps here is the story of real daily camp life with the women s thoughts about food friendships fear of rape and sexual abuse hygiene issues punishment work and resistance saidel includes accounts of the women s treatment their daily struggles to survive their hopes and fears their friendships their survival strategies and the aftermath on april 30 1945 the soviet army liberated ravenstrück they found only 3 000 extremely ill women in the camp because the nazis had sent other remaining women on a death march the jewish women of ravenstrück concentration camp reclaims the lost voices of the victims and restores the personal accounts of the survivors from august 1942 to april 1945 siemens halske ag maintained its own so called production facility adjacent to the ravenstrück women s concentration camp where up to 2 300 female prisoners were deployed in forced labor this volume contains excerpts from letters witness statements arrest reports diaries compensation claims autobiographies and interviews from ravenstrück survivors who were forced to work in the armaments factory the texts shed light on the system of forced labor in the context of the concentration camp questions of discouragement and hope as well as the women s will for self assertion and resistance presents a case study of the ravenstruck concentration camp the only nazi camp in germany specifically designed for women it successfully blends the larger history of nazi germany with the women s experiences interspersing the text with illustrations done mostly by camp inmates to date judith buber agassi has recovered the identities of over 16 000 ravenstruck prisoners now in paperback this study of ravenstruck largely overlooked in favor of more notorious killing camps brings to the forefront a unique set of holocaust victims the daughter of a ravenstruck survivor judith buber agassi has taught sociology and political science at universities in the united states canada israel germany and hong kong she currently resides in tel aviv with her family book cover page 4

winner of the longman history today book prize a profoundly moving chronicle observer that tells the story of ravenstrück the only concentration camp designed specifically for women using new testimony from survivors on a sunny morning in may 1939 a phalanx of 800 women housewives doctors opera singers politicians prostitutes were marched through the woods fifty miles north of berlin driven on past a shining lake then herded through giant gates whipping and kicking them were scores of german women guards their destination was ravenstrück a concentration camp designed specifically for women by heinrich himmler prime architect of the nazi genocide for decades the story of ravenstrück was hidden behind the iron curtain and today is still little known using testimony unearthed since the end of the cold war and interviews with survivors who have never spoken before helm has ventured into the heart of the camp demonstrating for the reader in riveting detail how easily and quickly the unthinkable horror evolved it not only fills a gap in holocaust history but it is an utterly compelling read taylor downing history today a sense of urgency infuses this history which comes just in time to gather the testimony of the camp s survivors meticulous unblinking helm s book comes not a moment too soon the economist presents a case study of the ravensbruck concentration camp the only nazi camp in germany specifically designed for women it successfully blends the larger history of nazi germany with the women s experiences interspersing the text with illustrations done mostly by camp inmates an eyewitness account of the only all women s concentration camp in the third reich months before the outbreak of world war ii heinrich himmler prime architect of the holocaust designed a special concentration camp for women located fifty miles north of berlin only a small number of the prisoners were jewish ravensbrück was primarily a place for the nazis to hold other inferior beings jehovah s witnesses resistance fighters lesbians prostitutes and aristocrats even the sister of new york s mayor laguardia over six years the prisoners endured forced labor torture starvation and random execution in the final months of the war ravensbrück became an extermination camp estimates of the final death toll have ranged from 30 000 to 90 000 for decades the story of ravensbrück was hidden behind the iron curtain now using testimony unearthed since the end of the cold war and interviews with survivors who have never talked before sarah helm takes us into the heart of the camp the result is a landmark achievement that weaves together many accounts following figures on both sides of the prisoner guard divide chilling compelling and deeply necessary ravensbrück is essential reading for anyone concerned with nazi history war atrocities cannot be segregated by gender and gender cannot be ignored when analyzing the crimes that culminated in the third reich's attempt to eradicate european jewry and other suspect nationalities and ethnic groups such as the roma despite the nazis masculine oriented policies towards aryan german women many women sought ways to become involved in hitler's party and government professor sarti's remarkable research discusses the women who not only agreed with the nazi weltanschauung but took an active part in mass genocide scholarship has tended to fundamentally overlook or dismiss the actions of this group sarti brings then to the fore of her remarkable investigation into their numbers and their influence professor sarti discusses the broad narrative of women as perpetrators no as unwilling accomplices of brutal genocidal acts she also studies a number of individuals such as the nineteen in the belsen trial of 1945 and others brought to book by the german authorities in postwar west germany in reality far fewer women were even processed for trial than men and this in the face of research that points to a much higher number of women guards and supervisors than the allied forces acknowledged this work based on primary sources is sure to be of great interest to students of the holocaust genocide as a modern phenomena as well as scholars involved in women and gender studies ravensbruck located 80km north of berlin was the only major nazi concentration camp built for women its history constitutes a crossroads in the various stages of the third reich's persecution of women accused of offending the nazi state and of those ethnically and racially persecuted women from different social strata national ethnic and religious origins were forced to live together under the most extreme conditions within the social system created by the ss from its first days until its liberation thousands of jewish women girls and children were among ravensbruck's prisoners they were part of the camp's population even when the industrial mass killing was exported to the east and germany including its concentration camps was to be freed of all jews against the overall background of the nazi concentration camps and holocaust historiography this collection of essays provides a socio historical in depth analysis of the singularity of the female jewish experience by focusing on the jewish experience in the microcosm of ravensbruck through maintaining the connection to the system and the surroundings both inside and outside the camp as well as the individual voices of the victims these essays avoid the kind of representation that distances us from the actual events alongside a range of testimonies that span more than six decades various types of documentation and source material are thoroughly analysed these outline the general as well as the social history of the jewish prisoners within the overall representation of the camp their numbers are assessed the nazi bureaucratic mechanism is exposed and the experiences of jewish women and children as prisoners survivors and subsequent immigrants is detailed the volume is the fruit of a bi national research team of sociologists and historians from the tel aviv university the freie university berlin and the memorial site in ravensbruck book jacket one of the best untold stories of world war ii and its aftermath this tragic tale interweaves two amazing plots how count folke bernadotte of sweden persuaded high ranking nazis to spare the lives of nearly 30 000 death camp inmates and why jewish extremists assassinated bernadotte in jerusalem in 1948 in the courtroom and the classroom in popular media public policy and scholarly pursuits the holocaust its origins its nature and its implications remains very much a matter of interest debate and controversy arriving at a time when a new generation must come to terms with the legacy of the holocaust or forever lose the benefit of its historical social and moral lessons this volume offers a richly varied deeply informed perspective on the practice interpretation and direction of holocaust research now and in the future in their essays the authors an international group including eminent senior scholars as well those who represent the future of the field set the agenda for holocaust studies in the coming years even as they give readers the means for understanding today s news and views of the holocaust whether in court cases involving victims and perpetrators international national and corporate developments or fictional documentary and historical accounts several of the essays such as one on nonarmed amidah or resistance and others on the role of gender in the behavior of perpetrators and victims provide innovative and potentially significant interpretive frameworks for the field of holocaust studies others for instance the rounding up of jews in italy nazi food policy in eastern europe and nazi anti jewish scholarship emphasize the importance of new sources for reconstructing the historical record still others including essays on the 1964 frankfurt trial of auschwitz guards and on the response of the catholic church to the question of german guilt bring a new depth and sophistication to highly charged sharply politicized topics together these essays will inform the future of the holocaust in scholarly research and in popular understanding publisher s description
